IN THIS UNIT ...

- Talking about learning Korean as a foreign language
- “Is it possible to ...?”
- “Do I have to do ...?”; “Is it all right if I do ...?”; “You shouldn't do ...”

This unit focuses on talking about the experience of learning a foreign language. As you become more uent in Korean you'll often nd Koreans who are very curious as to why you chose to study Korean, and so being able to talk about the experience, as well as about language in general, can be very useful. We also learn to express “It is/isn't possible ...”, “We must/mustn't do ...”, and “We may/may not do ...” in this Unit.

6 Do I have to do ...?

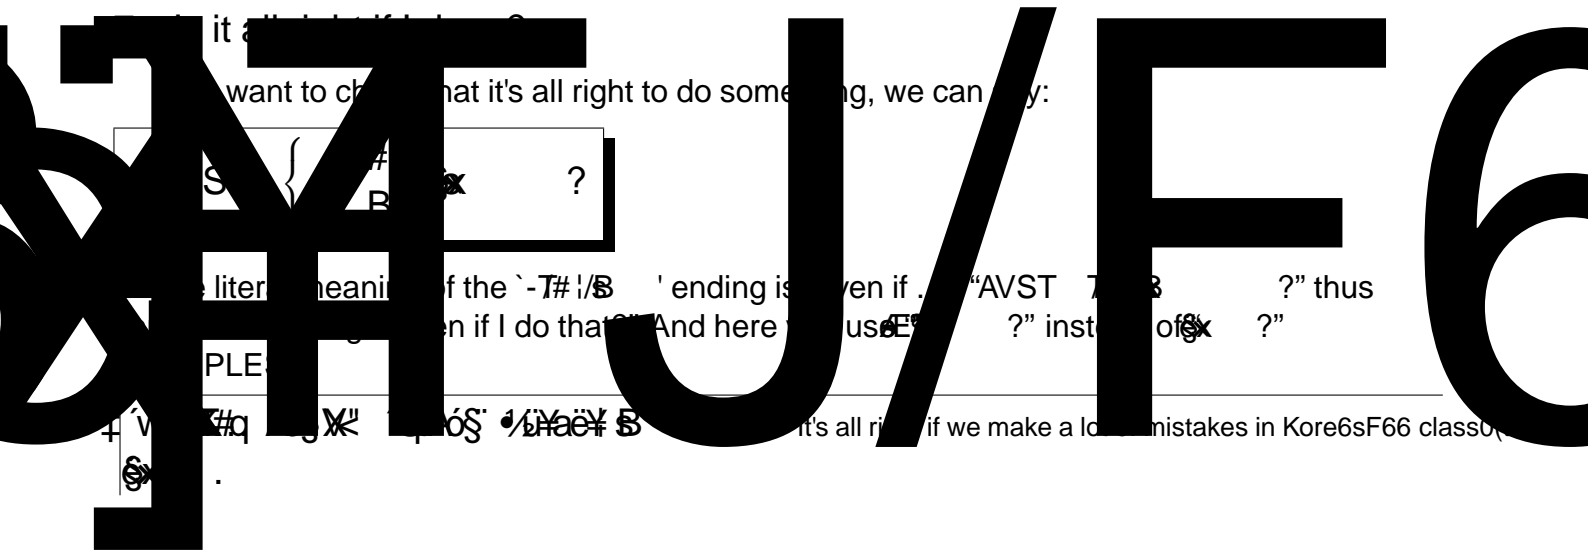

When we want to ask people on what we need to do in situations we can say:

... VST - { T# / B } x ?

The literal meaning of the '-T# /B' ending is "only if ...". Hence, "AVST T#B ?" implies "only if I do that?"

EXAMPLES
